Subject: TMF Board Meeting 8-10 March 2012 in Nashville

Greetings to One and All!

As you know we are planning the annual board meeting of The Matzevah Foundation not long from now (8 – 10 March) in Nashville. JoAnn, Kevin and I have met recently to discuss year end business and what we needed to cover at our board meeting this year.

We will begin Friday evening with prayer and fellowship. Saturday morning and afternoon will be devoted to business followed by an evening out where we will do something fun for us all. Sunday we will have worship together. There will be more details to follow, but this will get you started.

One thing that I would like for us to do prior to our meeting is to consider our values. Values are what we do. Values describe our behavior or our actions concerning our beliefs and convictions. For example, consider community. Do you value you community? If you do, how do you practice community in your life? Below are three questions about values. Please answer the following questions and send your response to me by 28 February. We will discuss our collective values at our board meeting, so please make sure that you submit your answers before the end of February.

Here are the questions:

1. Write down the five most important things (what you value most) in your life?
2. What personal values do you bring to The Matzevah Foundation?
3. What core values to you expect The Matzevah Foundation to possess?

Thank you for your partnership and support in what we are doing!

Blessings,

Steven
